A Plan for a Prohibition Constitutional Amendment—Action of the Republicans on the Morrison Surplus Resolution

SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Blair from the committee on education and labor reported back the [illegible] directing the commissioner of labor to [illegible] investigations as to convict labor, passed. The resolution offered by Gibson last Saturday [illegible] the secretary of the interior [illegible] the progress made by the surveyor [illegible] Louisiana in satisfying and adjusting [illegible] that state was taken [illegible] the president to communicate information [illegible] Mexican authorities [illegible] whether any [illegible] troops have been recently ordered [illegible] Fort Bliss.

DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION BILL

The senate then [illegible] to the consideration of the deficiency appropriation bill. [illegible] of the bill was [illegible] from the committee on appropriations [illegible] the deficiency bill was [illegible] The bill was [illegible] the senate until [illegible] affairs.

The reading of the deficiency bill was then resumed. An item was inserted to pay F. H. Smith [illegible] for legal services rendered the government in the Cutting case. The reading of the bill being [illegible] disposed of, the bill was open to general amendment.

On motion of Hale an item was inserted [illegible] for the repayment to importers of duties paid in excess. Also an item of [illegible] on account of [illegible] transportation over non-subsidized railroads [illegible] Central Pacific railroad for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1886 [illegible]

On motion of Dawes an item of $[illegible] was inserted for the Chippewa Indians in Minnesota on account of damages to their land by overflow caused by government dams.

On motion of Wilson of Iowa an item of $16,000 was inserted to pay the United States & Brazil steamship company for carrying mail during the last fiscal year.

The bill was then reported back to the senate and all amendments were concurred in and the bill passed.

The senate then on motion of Edmunds went into secret session and officers of the senate were sent into the corridors, committee rooms and newspaper offices of the second floor, all the occupants of which were promptly ejected, after which the senate took recess for the consideration of executive business in secret session.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

The principal part of the time of the senate in secret session up to a recess at six o'clock was consumed by Senators Voorhees and Harrison speaking respectively for and against the confirmation of Collector Thomas Hanlon of the Seventh Indiana internal revenue district, adversely reported from the finance committee. The case was still pending when the recess was taken. Upon reassembling at 8 o'clock it was discovered that there was no quorum and pages were sent out to summon the absentees. Later a quorum had assembled and consideration of Hanlon's case was resumed.

At [illegible] the doors were reopened and the senate proceeded to the consideration of private pension bills which have been favorably reported. Fifty were passed, including one granting a pension to the widow of Gen. Durbin Ward.

On motion of Mr. Vest a bill was passed authorizing the construction of a hotel on government land at Fortress Monroe.

On motion of Teller a bill was passed to establish a land office at Lamar, Col.

On motion of Mahone the senate proceeded to the consideration of public building bills. A number were passed. At 10:30 the senate adjourned.

HOUSE

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Holman of Indiana from the conference committee on the legislative, executive and judiciary appropriation bill reported a disagreement. Mr. Holman stated that the real point of difference was the senate amendment providing for senators' clerks. Other points of difference were more formal than real.

Oates of Alabama, moved that the house recede from the senators' clerks amendment. The motion was lost—yeas 96, nays 1[illegible]. Further conference was ordered.

Henley of California from the committee on public lands reported back the senate bill forfeiting certain lands granted to the Northern Pacific railroad company. The committee recommends that in lieu of the senate bill there be substituted the provisions of the house bill on the same subject.

Henley stated that the difference between the two bills was that while the senate bill forfeited the grant from Wallula to Portland, the house bill included also the forfeiture of all land from Bismarck to the Pacific ocean. The house bill forfeits 65,000,000 acres more than the senate bill.

Voorhees of Washington territory favored the house bill, declaring that there were high reasons of public policy why the land grant of the Northern Pacific company should be taken from its control as far as this could legally be done. He pictured what he characterized as the oppression of the railroad company as practiced in Washington territory, asserting that it dictated laws relating to railroad taxation and set at defiance every legislative action of the people. The history of the company was a chapter of broken promises, misrepresentations and double dealing.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

PROHIBITION CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Senator Blair from the committee on education and labor to-day submitted a favorable report from a majority of the committee for a joint resolution proposing that an amendment to the constitution in relation to alcoholic liquors and other poisonous beverages be submitted to the legislatures of the states for ratification. The amendment provides that from and after the year 1900 the manufacture and sale and importation of distilled alcoholic intoxicating liquors except for medicinal, mechanical, chemical and scientific purposes, and for use in arts, shall cease.

The report which accompanies the proposed amendment says the committee does not deem it necessary to discuss the evils of the use of alcohol, but believes that the people have a right to decide what measures shall be taken for the regulation or extirpation of this traffic. [illegible] should they be denied the opportunity to be heard in the only forum in which they can pass upon the question. When any considerable and respectable portion of the American people desire to plead their cause in the great tribunal of sovereigns who in our country decide every question of fundamental issue as a last resort, it is the duty of congress to enact such preliminary legislation as is here proposed, so that under the forms of the constitution they can be heard on the question of its own amendment.

THE MORRISON SURPLUS RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, July 26.—At 6 o'clock this evening the republican senators assembled in caucus in the judiciary committee room. The committee appointed at the caucus at Senator Sherman's house to outline a substitute for the Morrison surplus resolution made its report recommending that the minimum be fixed at $110,000,000 and the maximum at $[illegible]0,000,000. A proviso was added authorizing the president to suspend the operation of the resolution in emergencies. A quorum of the caucus did not wait to hear the full report and when Senator Allison had finished reading and explaining it, it was decided to adjourn without action, leaving the result to the finance committee at its meeting to-morrow morning.

SENATOR HEARST TALKS

WASHINGTON, July 2[illegible].—In an interview yesterday ex-Senator Hearst said: "I see some of the San Francisco papers are in error as to how my interests are affected by irrigation laws. I would be benefited by them to the same extent as any other citizen of California by the increased prosperity of the state and no more, for I am not interested directly or indirectly in any scheme of irrigation. I knew nothing of the call for an extra session until I saw the press announcement. I neither urged, advised nor suggested the extra session to the governor nor any one else nor did any one do so for me."

APPROPRIATIONS FOR THIS COAST

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The following amendments were added to the deficiency bill in the senate to-day: For macadamizing one half of the streets adjacent to the postoffice building, Portland, Or., $[illegible] for approaches and heating apparatus to [illegible] building at [illegible] In the appropriation [illegible] lighting and maintaining post lights on the Willamette and Columbia are included, and in order to meet this additional expense the appropriation for this service is increased to $[illegible]0,000.

WHY CLEVELAND REFUSED TO PARDON WATTS

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The president to-day returned to the department of justice the papers in the case of Wm. Watts, captain of a Maine vessel, [illegible] imprisonment [illegible] for ill treating his crew. In an accompanying letter the president says he denies the application for pardon [illegible] that [illegible] approving [illegible] application a few days ago he has received information which has satisfied him that it is not a case for executive clemency.

POSTAL MATTERS

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The annual report of Edwin O. [illegible] is summarized as follows: Number of postoffices established during the year 3[illegible]; increase during the year, 1[illegible]; number of postoffices discontinued during the year 1120; whole number of postoffices June 30, 1886, 53,614; increase during the year, 23[illegible]; number of presidential offices 2[illegible]; increase during the year [illegible]; number of fourth class offices [illegible]; increase during the year [illegible]. Appointments have been made during the year as follows: On resignation and commissions expired [illegible], increase during the year [illegible]. On removals and suspensions [illegible], increase during the year [illegible]; on deaths of postmasters [illegible], increase during the year 1[illegible]; on establishment of new postoffices [illegible], increase during the year [illegible]. Total number of appointments made during the year [illegible], increase during the year 13[illegible]. The total number of money order offices at the close of the year was [illegible], a net increase of 2[illegible] over the previous year.

SUNDRY CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL

WASHINGTON, July 26.—As it passed the senate Saturday night the sundry civil appropriation bill appropriated an aggregate of $[illegible] or an increase of $3,10[illegible] over the amount appropriated by the bill as it came from the house. The items added by the senate are $[illegible] for public buildings, $[illegible] for lighthouses [illegible]

SEA COAST PROTECTION

Report of the Board on Fortifications and Defenses Regarding the Harbors of Oregon

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—One of the [illegible] of the [illegible] coast defenses [illegible] Cleveland [illegible] a board of fortifications or other defenses [illegible] This board consisted of Secretary of War Endicott, president, Generals Newton and Abbott, of the engineers, Col. [illegible] and Capt. [illegible] Smith of the ordnance department, Commanders Sampson and Goodrich of the navy, and Messrs. Erastus Corning of New York and Joseph Morgan of Pennsylvania, civilian members.

The board makes the following report on the harbors of Oregon:

Portland—It would be very difficult for an enemy to ascend the river without a pilot, and the river could be so well defended that it is not likely that an enemy would venture to go so far from the sea. There are two railroads. These, with the town, could be easily destroyed if no resistance were made on the river below the city.

Astoria—It would be dangerous for strange vessels to enter the river without pilots or buoys on account of the shifting sand on the bar, but a position could be taken due west of town at a distance of little over six miles in five fathoms of water from which the town could be shelled over the land near Point Adams, or having entered the river, the town would be within range from channel after passing between Cape Disappointment and Point Adams.

Empire City—Light draught vessels could enter the bay and shell the town from almost any position above Fearless rock, or vessels could take position due west of town distant about two miles in more than five fathoms and shell the town over the land that is between the bay and the ocean.

Newport—If vessels could pass the bar the settlement could be shelled from almost any position inside, but if not wishing to pass it could be shelled from position close inshore in from four to five fathoms between two and three miles distant.

From this account it would appear that Oregon ports are pretty well exposed and would be in some danger if Uncle Sam should get into a row.

The board recognize the necessity for a general defense, but the scope of their present labors was limited to the important ports where "fortifications and other defenses are urgently required." Under this limitation the only port in the state that is included in the twenty-seven "urgent" points is Portland, and they recommend that it be protected as follows:

Portland, Or., at the mouth of the Columbia river and above: Fortifications, Barbett batteries, mortar batteries, submarine mines will form a part of the defenses. Eighteen torpedo boats are recommended for service along the Northern Pacific coast.

Proposed armament: Twelve 10-inch, 12-ton guns, seven 8-inch, 13-ton guns, all breech-loading, rifled, and thirty-two 12-inch rifled mortars, a total of fifty-one pieces.

Of course it will be of interest to know what these fortifications and other defenses are going to cost.

Estimate for land defenses exclusive of armament:

Number of guns and mortars wanted:
Twelve disappearing and non-disappearing	$180,000
Seven Barbette	1[illegible],000
Thirty-two mortar	64,000
Keeps	[illegible]00,000
Total	$[illegible]10,000
Estimate for armament and mounts:
Cost of guns and mortars	$[illegible]1,000
Cost of carriages	1[illegible],000
Total	$[illegible]00,000
Estimate for torpedo boat	$1,0[illegible]0,000

CONSOLIDATED ESTIMATE

Land defenses—Masonry and earthwork	$519,000
Armament—Guns and mortars	6[illegible]1,000
Carriages	219,000
Submarine mines and their adjuncts	100,000
Torpedo boats	1,0[illegible]0,000
Total for the defense of Portland	$[illegible],000

A DEAD MAN'S DIARY

Some of the Last Written Words of Greely's Companions in the Arctic

DETROIT, July 26.—The recent publication of the story of Sergeant Maurice Connell, one of the survivors of the Greely expedition, has been the occasion for the perusal of the diary of Lieut. Kislingbury and publication of extracts by the Free Press. The diary is in possession of the administrator of Lieut. Kislingbury's estate. In regard to the differences between Greely and Kislingbury which resulted in the latter being deprived of his authority, Lieut. Greely said it was because of his insubordination in not getting up for breakfast when called. Lieut. Kislingbury speaks of being relieved August 1[illegible], 1883, and on May 1, 1884, Greely promised to issue an order reinstating him. Under date of May [illegible], 1884, Lieut. Kislingbury writes:

He (Greely) said he would give me credit and pay me the compliment I deserved. I was obliged to remind him of this when he cut me short, flew into a passion and called me a liar in a loud, insulting manner. God help me. I had to take this. Too weak to write anything more to-night.

This was the last entry, and eighteen days later, June 1st, 1884, Lieut. Kislingbury died. Greely's letter deposing Kislingbury is dated January [illegible], 1883, while it is shown above that other speaks of being relieved nearly half a year previously, and Greely himself speaks in his letter of "your enforced stay with this command," which seems to corroborate Lieut. Kislingbury's claim that he was relieved before the complaint about getting up late mornings. On two and a half sheets that are all remaining of one of the diaries are entries that show Kislingbury was hampered and secretly interfered with by his superior officers. He was allowed to choose a companion for a hunting expedition and selected Connell, who was secretly told by Lieutenant Greely that he could return at any time and need not hold himself subject to Kislingbury's orders. Last February extracts were taken from the diary by a Washington correspondent referring to Greely as incompetent. However many of the most important points were omitted. Following are a few of these:

April [illegible], 1884: I am to-day again made a member of the expedition. Greely [illegible] me he would [illegible] me full credit for my admirable conduct.

April [illegible], 1884: Connell is quite weak. Poor Dr. Pavy is morose and untiring in his efforts to help us all. His medicines are very inadequate, and the reason for this must be shown hereafter. He is still under arrest. He chops ice and helps the cook in the way of chores.

April [illegible], 1884: Pavy recommended a change of diet, and Greely found fault with the doctor as usual.

Other reflections are made on Greely, who openly disregarded the dietary suggestions and confessed doing so. He says: "The commanding officer also disregarded all suggestions regarding the course of the expedition, although such suggestions would have insured our safety."

HOLLAND

CONFLICT BETWEEN POPULACE AND POLICE

AMSTERDAM, July 26.—A serious conflict took place here yesterday between the populace and the police, which [illegible] arising from the prohibition of a popular game on Sunday. The disorders were continued to-night when the troops fired into the crowd. The rioters are erecting barricades. It is reported that a number have been killed and that [illegible] socialists are fomenting the disorder. The prohibited game is the killing of eels attached to a [illegible] and a degrading pastime popular among the lower classes.

Eight [illegible] were wounded. Twenty [illegible] persons have been arrested, including two socialists.

George W. Tompkins, M. D., 78 Cumberland Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes June 3, 1886: "I take pleasure in recommending Allcock's Porous Plasters in all cases of General Debility, especially where the pains are severe over the regions of the Kidneys, Liver and Chest, marked improvement occurs soon as relief from suffering is obtained. For Lumbago these Plasters surpass liniments, etc."

Extensive Embezzlement in the Chicago Postoffice Discovered—Disastrous Storms in Pennsylvania and Dakota

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—[illegible] the [illegible] which was [illegible] to the [illegible] the American consul at Paso del Norte [illegible] Cutting, an American citizen [illegible] by the Mexican authorities [illegible] whether [illegible] free of troops has been ordered to Fort Bliss.

[illegible] The higher portion of the city [illegible] are plainly visible from the American side, and a number of troops can be seen [illegible] the elevation [illegible] of the [illegible] cathedral which American visitors [illegible] del Norte always go to see. [illegible] that they are throwing up earthworks [illegible] The commander of the Mexican [illegible] has achieved quite a reputation in the war against Maximilian, in which he was wounded. He is a man of letters and a poet. However [illegible] he is probably outranked by [illegible] grade in the army. In the few instances [illegible] the Americans who venture there are scowled at and often they are summarily searched [illegible] and [illegible] they are taken away from them. The feeling among the Mexican masses is very bitter against the Americans. They are quite defiant and say it will be an easy matter for their country to whip the United States. They have somehow brought themselves to believe that the firing of the first gun would be a signal for the Southern states to come to their aid to revenge themselves upon the Northern states for the disastrous outcome of the great civil war. They likewise feel convinced that England would take their part and blockade the Atlantic and [illegible] ports of the United States.

A BLUSTERING MEXICAN

Senor Escobar, Mexican consul at El Paso, says unless one country or the other backs down war can not be averted, and he added: "Mexico will never comply with the demand that has been made. If it must come to that, you may be sure Mexico will accept war first." He says he is authorized to speak by authority, for he is known to have heretofore reflected the sentiments of his government. The chief justice of the state of Chihuahua, Senor F. [illegible] Romos, has arrived at Paso del Norte, ostensibly for the purpose of looking into the Cutting matter. Senor R[illegible], private secretary of the government of Chihuahua, to-day published a contradiction of the report that made him state to Consul Brigham that no more troops would be sent to Paso del Norte. He says he is in no position to know what movements the general of the Mexican troops will make. The Mexican press is intensely patriotic and belligerent. They want their government to listen to no negotiations whatever.

The Mexican paper published at Paso del Norte, the Observador Fronterizo, says: "Do you Americans believe that because you belong to a populous nation you will cause our weaker nation to vacillate? Never think so. Do you think by noise and hurrahs you can scare our brothers? Never believe it. Never let it enter your minds. You can never impose upon the sons of a war like and valiant nation."

THE CASE CLOSELY WATCHED

EAGLE PASS, Texas, July [illegible].—The outcome of the Cutting case is being watched very closely by the people along the border here, who think the government has been very remiss in protecting the rights and liberties of American citizens in Mexico, and hope that this affair will establish a precedent for aggressive measures hereafter on the part of the United States government.

AMICABLY SETTLED AFTER ALL

ST. LOUIS, July 26.—A Nogales, Ariz., correspondent of the Globe-Democrat states on authority that the trouble growing out of the Mendina-Cutting affair at Paso del Norte is undoubtedly, been amicably settled, also that the supreme judge of Chihuahua, the only supreme judge of the Mexican states, has ordered the arrest and confinement of Editor Mendina and the liberation of [illegible] Cutting.

WANTS A REVOLUTION

GALVESTON, July 26.—A special from Eagle Pass, Texas, to the News says: Revolutionary circulars are being distributed throughout the states of Tamaulipas, Coahuila and Nuevo Leon, signed by Francisco T. Lasco, calling upon his friends to arise, arm themselves and fight the [illegible] government which is trampling upon the rights of the people and the press. The circular says that a decree has lately been promulgated giving the alcaldes throughout the various states unusual powers over the rights of persons and property in violation of the constitution of 1857, which Lasco calls upon the people to uphold.

HUBERT O. THOMPSON

The Famous Leader of the New York County Democracy Dies Suddenly

NEW YORK, July 26.—Hubert O. Thompson, leader of the county democracy, was found dead in his bed at the Worth house, Madison square, at [illegible] this morning. His room was visited at that time by his physician, Dr. Roberts, who had slept in the parlor adjoining Thompson's bedroom, which was in room No. 3 in the hotel. He had last seen Thompson alive about 4 o'clock this morning, the latter being in bed at the time. There was no apprehension of a fatal result of the illness which had caused the ex-commissioner to be under medical care for some months. Thompson was found lying on his right side with his knees drawn up, the pupils of his eyes dilated and blood [illegible] and his face and neck were livid. The cause of his death was cerebral apoplexy.

Coroner Messmore, who was summoned, said that death probably occurred at about [illegible] o'clock. The deceased was 37 years and [illegible] months old. Born in Boston, he was brought to this city by his parents when a child and has ever since lived here. His education was acquired in the public schools and he graduated with honors at the free academy which is now the college of the city of New York. After ten years passed in Wall street brokerage and railroad business he was appointed clerk in the water surveyor's office by Allen Campbell, then commissioner of public works, and soon afterward was appointed deputy commissioner of public works. He filled the latter position with credit for three years. Thompson became active in politics in 18[illegible] when he joined the [illegible] democratic club and became an opponent of [illegible] party leaders. In 18[illegible] he was a member of Tammany hall, but withdrew from it because of his hostility to John Kelly. His career since then as a leader of the county democracy is well known to the public. Personally he was a man of winning manners and a genial companion.

THE ANARCHISTS TRIAL

CHICAGO, July 26.—In the anarchists' trial to-day a reporter named Freeman testified to incidents at the Haymarket. Parsons in his speech frequently shouted "To arms." When police arrived to command the crowd to disperse, could be distinctly heard, and it was no sooner given than the bomb exploded. Joseph Gruenhut, city tenement inspector, a recognized socialist, said he saw Spies write the "Revenge" circular and had heard Spies explain how the ranks of the police [illegible] to be decimated by the use of dynamite. The witness appeared to be badly frightened while on the stand.

In the afternoon Dr. F. H. Newman testified that he had attended the wounded policemen and identified several nuts, bullets and other missiles he had [illegible] extracted from the bodies of the wounded men.

Maxwell F. Dixon, formerly a newspaper man, testified to having had a number of conversations with Parsons. At the first of these Parsons [illegible] him a diagram [illegible] and said that the Chicago socialists in their coming revolution would make use of some such plan.

Witness said to Parsons: "You're not going [illegible] they are one [illegible] are you."

Parsons answered: "You'll see, and it will be [illegible] than you think for."

Witness [illegible] a number of socialist meetings he had attended in the capacity of reporter [illegible] reports of the [illegible] expressions used by Spies, Parsons and Fielden, denouncing capitalists and advising revolutionary principles freely, in which the use of dynamite was recommended.

[illegible] a Daily News reporter, gave a graphic description of the scene at Haymarket the night of the riot. He was an eye witness and was within forty or fifty feet of the bomb when it exploded. His description of the events of the evening did not differ materially from those of other eye witnesses. He said that the bomb as it exploded seemed to level to the ground the front ranks of the police.

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up [illegible]

the prosecution in the reading of editorials and other articles from The Alarm and similar social[illegible] organs. The theme of the articles was revolution.

ANARCHIST SYMPATHIZERS

CHICAGO, July 26.—Fully 3000 sympathizers of the eight anarchists being tried before Judge Gary assembled in the West Twelfth street Turner hall to-night. It was the first red flag meeting since the memorable night of May 4th, and there was considerable anxiety around police headquarters in consequence. The entire force there was held in readiness to answer any call and a good sized number of officers was in attendance upon the meeting. Capt. O'Donnell was present and had about forty uniformed policemen inside and outside the hall, besides many detectives in citizens clothes, but the meeting was peaceful and the proceedings regular. A. O. Bishoff presided. Speeches were delivered by A. B. Simpson, D. [illegible] Schmidt and Geo. Schilling, all socialists or anarchists of long standing. The remarks of each were evidently tempered with due regard for the police that were present, and were pretty strictly confined to explanation of the set objects of the meeting, which are summed up in a series of resolutions that were afterward carried with a whoop. These resolutions charge that the press [illegible] the 4th of May with [illegible] clamored for the condemnation and execution of the eight anarchists on trial, although they have never been heard in their own defense [illegible] that the press [illegible] the evidence [illegible] in the trial, particularly the cross examination of witnesses called by the prosecution. [illegible] the resolutions recommend the organized workers of Chicago [illegible] the Central Labor Union of New York [illegible] railroad through [illegible]

CHICAGO POSTOFFICE [illegible]

CHICAGO, July [illegible].—[illegible] in handling the [illegible] the Chicago postoffice, was arrested this morning [illegible] charged with the embezzlement of [illegible] funds by means of false returns. The postoffice inspectors claim to have traced [illegible] from November 1881 to November 1[illegible] and it is said that there is a total shortage of from $[illegible] to $40,000.

John F. Stuart, a [illegible] was also arrested. The inspectors say they find that the Daily News paid him nearly $6000 more for November [illegible] to November 1886 than the amount which he turned over to the government. They allege that during the same period the Western News company paid [illegible] $[illegible] more than he returned. They have still to discover the account of all other newspapers which had papers mailed during Bolton's incumbency. Bolton was appointed by Postmaster Palmer in 18[illegible]. The arrests of these two are very likely to be followed by more, as the inspectors have discovered a private memorandum brought to Bolton which they claim implicates a number of federal officials and even private citizens. The inspectors say that facts which will quickly be brought to light will produce a sensation which will astonish the country as well as the city.

THE THREE AMERICAS RAILWAY

NEW YORK, July 26.—Hinton Rowan Helper writes to the Tribune from Buenos Ayres to correct the false report of his death and to threaten to bring into court the persons who concocted the report. He is now making his seventh visit to South America, and is still hopeful that his Three Americas railway from Behring strait to the straits of Magellan will in due time be an accomplished fact. He expects the Argentine congress soon to pass a resolution recommending the construction of the railway, and says that with an [illegible] degree of earnest and prudent co-operation continuous communication by rail between New York and Buenos Ayres ought to be opened within the next ten or twelve years.

DISASTROUS STORM IN PENNSYLVANIA

PITTSBURG, July 2[illegible].—The damage by this morning's storm will probably reach $350,000. The storm was the most severe known for many years. From almost every town along the rivers reports are coming in of great damage. Houses were flooded and struck by lightning, crops destroyed and trees and fences washed away. Almost every railroad entering the city suffered from landslides and washouts. Whole fields of wheat and corn have been destroyed, and at one point near [illegible] City a strip of woodland seventy-five yards wide by three-quarters of a mile long was leveled by the tornado. At Pine creek, along Butcher's run and Sewickley valley the water flooded the houses and many families were forced to flee to escape drowning.

ANOTHER BOYCOTT ORDERED

NEW YORK, July 26.—The most important features of the weekly meeting of the central labor union yesterday were the declaration of a boycott against the Singer machine company on account of the lockout at their works, and a close vote on the resolution to condemn district assembly 49, Knights of Labor, for its efforts to remove the Ehret brewery boycott. This vote is significant inasmuch as it settles the question of whether the Knights of Labor or their rivals the trades unionists or socialists shall rule the central labor union, and shows clearly that the Knights of Labor have a majority.

SUICIDE AT SEA

NEW YORK, July 26.—Gen. James H. Van Alen jumped overboard from the steamer Umbria on July 22 and was lost. He left New York for England a short time ago. While in England he received a telegram announcing the serious illness of his only son. The general, who was 70 years old, was greatly affected by the news, and decided to return at once. All went well until Thursday last, when the general was missing. A search developed the fact that he had carefully dressed himself and jumped over the stern of the boat.

HAILSTONES AS LARGE AS HENS' EGGS

GRAFTON, Dakota, July 26.—A hailstorm of unexampled fury burst upon this city Saturday afternoon, sweeping a track five miles wide from Point Thomas across the Red river into Minnesota, a distance of thirty miles. The hailstones were as large as hens' eggs. Houses were riddled with the hailstones tearing through the shingles and breaking the window sashes as well as the glass. Several persons were severely injured and one boy is missing. The damage to crops and otherwise is estimated at half a million dollars. Many farmers are left entirely destitute.

THE SARTORIS FAMILY SKELETON

CALIFORNIA

THE GATHERING OF THE CLANS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—The movement of the Grand army across the continent is attracting the attention of people along all the great arteries of travel, and from the number and size of the bodies of delegates already noticed as being on their way, the attendance will be larger than was expected. From Ohio there are about [illegible] on their way here. Among these are ex-President Hayes and ex-Commander-in-Chief John Kountz. The New York delegation which left Omaha last night in a special train number an even hundred. The Massachusetts delegation occupies five excursion cars. Accompanying this party is Mrs. Sarah E. Fuller, of Boston, president of the Women's Relief Corps; Mrs. L. E. Turner, national treasurer; Elinor B. Wheeler, national secretary; Mrs. Florence Barker, first vice president and municipal organizer, with a number of lady delegates. There are also delegations from Maine, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Delegations of the different states have adopted special and significant badges for the trip. Boston men wear bean pods, the New Hampshire badge is a block of granite, that of Rhode Island a clam, Connecticut a wooden nutmeg, Vermont a cedar sprig, and that of Maine a pine cone. Yesterday morning Commander-in-Chief Burdett, accompanied by Adjt. Gen. Cameron, Pension Commissioner Black, Congressman Grosvenor of Ohio and about 150 veterans belonging to the department of the Potomac left Washington City in a special train for San Francisco.

G. A. R. TOPICS FOR DISCUSSION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—There are three matters that [illegible] likely engage the attention of the national delegates in San Francisco more than anything else.

First—The partially expressed desire of the part of many people to change certain parts of the ritual which they still consider sectarian.

Second—The action of congress and the president in reinstating Gen. Fitz John Porter. Last year and the year before the matter [illegible] and Senator Logan, who is once more a delegate, succeeded in placing the G. A. R. on record [illegible]

Third—The perpetuity of the G. A. R. organizations called The Sons of Veterans, which are springing up all over the country. They propose to keep up the organization after the Grand Army is gone. The sentiment has been and is now not to encourage such perpetuation but to let old comrades die and with them the G. A. R.

MURDER IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—John T. Collins was killed yesterday afternoon by Patrick Mullen. Collins, who is employed with the Domestic sewing machine company, called at the house of Mullen, corner Twenty-eighth and Church streets, to collect money due on a machine purchased by Mrs. Mullen. A few minutes after his entrance he emerged bleeding profusely from several gashes in the head. He was removed to the receiving hospital, where he died at a late hour last night. Mullen was arrested and charged with murder. He claims that the deceased endeavored forcibly to collect the bill from his wife, drawing a pistol, when he interfered and stabbed Collins. This story is not credited, as Collins was known to be a [illegible] man. At the time of the arrest an attempt was made by an angry crowd to lynch the murderer, which the police, however, frustrated. The deceased leaves a widowed mother, of whom he was the only support.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, JULY 27, 1886.

THE WRECK OF THE BESSE.

The loss of the William H. Besse near the entrance to the Columbia river last Friday was an unnecessary piece of business, due not to the dangers of the time and situation, but to the reckless course of Capt. Gibbs in trying to sail in without a pilot. This is denied, of course, by the captain, but the circumstances all go to show that his statement is an invention designed and put forth to shield himself. The disaster occurred at the close of a clear day, before it was yet dark, and in plain view of some scores of people on the shore, who bear uniform testimony that the ship was for several hours, and at the time she grounded, far out of her proper position if she was, as it is claimed, seeking a pilot. It is clear that she was not seeking a pilot, but, on the contrary, trying to avoid the pilots, and that it was the design of her master to "sneak in"—that is, sail in without pilot or tug and thus save the pilotage and towage fees. It is well known to all ship masters who have entered the Columbia river (and Capt. Gibbs had been here twice before in command of a vessel) that the cruising ground where pilots are waited for is not north of the river and close in shore, but directly off the bar in deep water. And it is not customary at this or any other difficult entrance for a master to crowd forward boldly toward land, trusting luck to send him a pilot. The course of Capt. Gibbs, contrary to particular knowledge, general custom and common prudence, can only be accounted for on the theory that he intended to make his own way into the river.

This theory finds strong support in the fact that he played this game the last time he entered the river, and actually came in unaided, though not under precisely similar circumstances. At that time he was in light ballast from Puget sound, and had on board Capt. Doig, for many years and at the present time a regularly licensed pilot, though not at that time holding a branch. Doig, who knew the water well, sailed him in without accident. Under the law a ship is bound to pay the first pilot who speaks her a pilotage fee whether she accepts his services or not, and to avoid being "spoken" on the former occasion, Doig sailed the ship close along the shore north of the entrance in comparatively shoal water, and far out of the usual course of vessels entering the river. On last Friday Capt. Gibbs took precisely the same course. He sought, not the water where pilots commonly cruise, but that where he knew by his former experience he could possibly escape observation and avoid the tender of a pilot. He did not know of the changes in the channels since his former visit, and did not calculate upon the deeper draught of his vessel—hence the disaster. It is the old story of foolish endeavor ending in miscarriage and explained by misstatement.

The fault of this business lies with Capt. Gibbs, but his fault does not altogether relieve the tug service from blame. There ought to be such a close and constant watch that a vessel could not by any course nor under any circumstances, save those of fog or darkness, approach the bar unobserved and unwarned. Those who serve commerce at the entrance to the Columbia river ought to serve it with eternal vigilance. It is explained that the tug which, under the old system, was stationed inside the bar in waiting, was far at sea in company with the state pilot schooner, and in this way there is an attempt to throw the blame upon the opposition. But this is a very lame and insufficient excuse for neglect of proper watchfulness. As well might a steamboat engineer who has burst his boilers in a race try to put the blame upon the rival boat for engaging him in the contest. Capt. Flavel has an unquestioned right to send his tugs in company with the pilot schooner, but he ought not to leave the immediate entrance unprovided.

THE SCHOLAR IN POLITICS.

Senator Miller, of New York, in his recent address before Union college, spoke of the lack of patriotic feeling among educated men. Senator Miller, a graduate of Union, is not prejudiced when he said: "We have too many educated men who are un-American in their sympathies and undemocratic in their lives." This is no new complaint, and the critics are not Josiah Bounderbys, but children themselves of the culture they indict. Ex-president White, of Cornell, several years ago confessed that college-bred men in congress, in the ranks of state legislatures, on the rolls of executive officers, high and low, are fairly described as conspicuous by their absence. This is not entirely because college-bred men do not enter politics, but because when they do they fail to exercise that influence that is superficially associated with so-called superior advantages. President White conceded this, and in explanation said that their training does not qualify college-bred men for public life, and for this reason so small a number find their way into legislative halls. The American college does not fit the educated men of this country to occupy the influential position in American politics which ought to belong to them, if their education stands for valuable intelligence and efficient action. But it will not suffice to answer this with a sweeping sneer at politics as so dirty and dishonest as to repel the pursuit of men of letters. The pool of American politics, considering the number of persons who bathe in it compared with the days of our fathers, was never so clean as to-day, and even if this was not so it is the duty of educated intelligence to be aggressive in resisting a national drift to the devil, not an apathetic witness of wrong. Politics is the practical application of the science of government, and there is nothing more worthy of the best minds, because in no other way can the highest intelligence do more for the largest public happiness and advancement of the largest number than in the comprehensive field of politics, which includes the discussion, the construction and the execution of salutary legislation for human society. In no sphere of human effort is there a larger opportunity for the most lasting kind of usefulness than in politics. It is broad enough to interest, to absorb the whole range of the finest sort of trained intellectual power, and it is so closely related to the current life of the people that its problems, constantly pressing for solution, equally engage the intellectual vision and the moral sensibilities of the actors. A man deep in politics is an instrument most influential for great good or great evil, according as he is intelligent, humane, able, upright, or ignorant, bigoted, corrupt and inhuman. No field of effort ought to be more attractive to best equipped intelligence and humanity of the country, for nowhere is there so much need of good work, and nowhere is there so great an opportunity to do good work. And yet, in face of the fact that the field is one of illustrious opportunity, a field so illimitable and comprehensive that no versatility of gifts or acquirements is too vast for its circle, the so-called educated laborers in this great field are comparatively very few.

Wendell Phillips, in his famous Phi Beta Kappa oration in 1881, took college men severely to task for neglecting to meet their public obligations. The record of Harvard in the days that tried men's souls from 1835 to 1861 was a record of apathy broken only by aggressive warfare on the struggling cause of freedom. Senator Hoar of Massachusetts warned Amherst college a few years ago against the danger of suffering a too fastidious culture to paralyze the moral sensibility to the worth of a great and noble cause. He spoke of eloquent orators, learned lawyers, fitted by character and opinion to be leaders of the people, who were too fastidious to stand with Garrison because of his bitter invectives, with Wilson because of his political management, with Sumner because of his faults of taste and temper. Rufus Choate wrote in 1855 to a friend in Washington: "Your estate is gracious that keeps you out of the hearing of our politics. Anything more low, obscene, feculent, the manifold oceanic heavings of history have not cast up. We shall come to the worship of onions, cats and things vermiculate." And yet this was written within six years of the heroic days of 1861.

Speaking of the moral recreancy of Everett (or perhaps Winthrop) in 1854, Emerson said with entire justice: "Having professed his adoration for liberty in the time of his grandfathers, he proceeded with his work of denouncing freedom and freemen at the present day, much in the spirit in which Lord Bacon prosecuted his benefactor Essex. He denounced every name and aspect under which liberty and progress dare show themselves in this age and country, but with a lingering conscience which qualified each sentence with a recommendation to mercy." This was the time when the cackling brood of Boston Brahmins obsequiously hastened to unloose Webster's overshoes, to hang up his hat and coat for him, when he was autocrat and Peter Harvey was his Boswell; when the Egyptian flunkeyism of Harvard was Everett, Otis, Felton, Winthrop and Choate; men who would grow warm and eloquent on dead literature, and yet view with silent and contemptuous indifference the enslavement of living men. To these persons a book was better than a man; a wrong done to the English language was a more unforgivable and unforgetable thing than a crime against English liberty. This was the culture that illustrates the wisdom of Wordsworth's lines:

A few strong instincts and a few plain rules
Among the herdsmen of the Alps, have wrought
More for mankind in many a trying hour
Than all the pride of intellect and thought.

Senator Hoar said the evil example of the educated men of that day reminded him of Cicero's patrician, who cared nothing for the republic so long as his fish ponds were safe. A brilliant lawyer, now dead, a few years ago, in an admirable address before Yale college, his alma-mater, urged young men who were anxious to exert an influence on public affairs to make a special study of such subjects as pauperism and crime, political history, the legislation of states, local government, and above all of political biography. He ridiculed two sorts of dandies,—the literary and the social. Culture, with the first, means to dawdle about clubs and fill vapid ears with equally vapid talk about art and literature, and music, and nothing, having few ideas themselves and conveying none to others, continually trying to measure the ocean in a pint-pot. The social dandy's idea of culture is never to dine without a dress coat. His activity never reaches further than the billiard table, nor does his enthusiasm rise higher than a languid approval of a pretty face or a fine voice in the street or on the stage. These are the creatures who condemn politics as inconsistent with culture and refinement, ignorant that true culture never dodges duty, however disagreeable, that true refinement never suffers by any necessary contact with anything. The debates in congress are sometimes unseemly, and sometimes disgraceful, but contrast them with the sessions of a presbytery." Prof. Norton, of Harvard college, complains that while he saw much "that was creditable in literary expression, he failed to find anything heroic in the purposes which the art of expression should subserve. He did not hear young men calling to each other to maintain a higher standard of character and life."

At the recent commencement of Harvard a number of the graduates complained of the increasing vulgar and demoralizing extravagance of rich men's sons, who found luxurious clubs, furnish their rooms like boudoirs, keep fast horses, dog-carts, etc. To these men is due the extravagant interest in athletic sports, which has converted a healthy taste for gymnastics into an annual regatta that is as corrupt and vulgarizing as an ordinary horse race or prize fight. The Utica Herald, whose editor is a Yale first scholar, confesses that few college men are qualified by their knowledge to be the political leaders of other men: the present leaders come from the masses; they are deficient in scholastic training, but supply their lack of theoretical knowledge by their practical experience. All this is not an argument for the obliteration of colleges, but for their improvement; for the reformation of their methods, and a modification of their peremptory curriculum to this extent that the political history of modern Europe and America, English literature and physical science should take the precedence of the classics, for what the average boy needs is sound knowledge in business and politics, not the clannish culture of the classics; that is a luxury, save to a man of opulent leisure.

It would seem that the doctrine of protection is gaining ground in the South. Some days ago a protection resolution was adopted by the democratic executive committee of Chatham, county, Georgia, which includes Savannah, while the tariff proclivities of the Atlanta Constitution led the Louisville Courier-Journal to say:

> Undoubtedly the Constitution and Senator Brown are drifting away from the democratic party. They are planning for a new departure and a new party. They have alienated the people and have nothing now but a machine on which to depend. The time will come when they will find it impossible to perpetuate their power within the party. Their sympathies, if they can be said to have sympathies, are foreign to democratic tradition. Their controlling motives are in opposition to the patriotic purposes of the party.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat takes an industrial rather than political view of the case when it remarks:

> The growth of the Birmingham (Ala.) region has shown the people of Georgia and Alabama the possibilities of the material growth of their states under a protective tariff, and it is not to be wondered that both Atlanta and Savannah, the leading towns of Georgia, should now be outspoken in favor of the tariff.

We are told that the Sunday Welcome and other respectable journals have asserted that the proprietors of THE OREGONIAN are also proprietors of the "Olympic gardens;" and the paper called the News says it is "compelled to believe that the assertion is true." And then follows a snivelling homily in this wise: "Now, good people of Portland, Christian fathers and mothers, what do you think of a newspaper posing as a high moral journal, the 'only paper,' engaging in the beer garden business, and opening wide the doors on Sunday to catch the spare dimes of the city and corrupt their morals." We have seen no such "assertion" in the Sunday Welcome or other "respectable journal"—in fact never heard of such a thing before. The assertion is absurd and false: there is not nor ever has been the slightest foundation for it, and only a fool would imagine it or be "compelled to believe" it. However, it may be remarked that even the business of running a beer garden may be more respectable than that of running a bilk newspaper.

The cargo of the William H. Besse, lost on the bar last Friday evening, consisted of iron for the Farmington branch of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company's line. The loss will postpone the completion of that branch some weeks, and possibly some months. If the company waits for another cargo from the East, there will be a delay of five or six months, but if it gets iron in San Francisco, the delay will be trifling. For the amount needed, San Francisco is the dearer market by at least $10,000; but it is believed that this difference would be compensated by the advantages resulting from unbroken continuance of the work now in progress.

The conference committee is unable to agree, and more than ever it looks as if the river and harbor bill would fail. The water in the ship channel between this city and the mouth of the Columbia is getting low, and Portland may as well begin thinking about the job of clearing it out. There is just one thing to do, namely, to put up the necessary money and have the sand sluiced out.

A few days ago, owing to a break in the wires, east of Cheyenne, the associated press report for Denver, Salt Lake and San Francisco had to come from Chicago through Portland. It came to Portland over the Northern Pacific wires.

The Oswego iron works become more and more involved in the courts, and the prospect of resuming operations is small indeed. There seems, on the part of certain stockholders, a disposition to neither fish nor cut bait.

They have got Saunders again—this time for sure. It is surmised that his flight, with all the circumstances connected with it, lessens his chances of escaping the gallows. There is little doubt that he will hang, and, as he must realize this, it is surprising that he so readily surrendered.

The receiver of the narrow gauge road is now engaged in rebuilding the Santiam and other bridges, and in a few weeks trains will be able to run from end to end, to the other side of the east side branch. It now looks as if the narrow gauge trains would run into Portland this fall.

One thing seems now to be certain, to-wit: Logan will not be on the republican presidential ticket in 1888, either for the first or the second place; nor will he be on such ticket at any other time. His course in the Payne business has fixed all that.

The Chinamen who work in the fisheries on the Columbia river are not paid regular wages, but for what they do. Work this year has been slow, and in most of the canneries they have not made enough to pay their bare living.

HOPS AND HOP PICKING.

BUTTEVILLE, July 24.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As hops and the price, present and prospective, forms the burden of conversation here, permit me to speak on the subject through your paper.

This has come to be quite a hop growing district, so much so that the prosperity of the community depends to a great extent on the price of hops. As we always have good crops when taken care of, that phase is not discussed as in the Eastern states. In the last WEEKLY OREGONIAN you stated that the Butteville growers wrote to Koshland asking if white help could be obtained at 25 cents per box. That is a mistake. It was Chinamen that they inquired for. The boxes in use here are 30 inches deep, 18 wide, and 36 long, holding about nine bushels. Last year the Chinamen held off for higher prices than the growers could afford to pay, until it was so late a good many hops were lost. Twenty cents per box was paid last year. This year they seem to think they can set their own prices. They are mistaken.

Already some growers are preparing to use white help, and are engaging pickers. Should the Chinamen hold for unreasonable prices a great many will look out for white help, even if it costs more. To lose part of the crop one year, and give the profits to the Chinamen another year wont pan out worth a cent. Last year the hops picked easy as there was not much leaf, as high as eight boxes a day to a hand being recorded. Probably the picking will be full as easy this year, and four boxes a day should be an easy day's work for a quick worker. The crop is not more than two-thirds as much as two years ago, when the crop was enormous. In consequence of that and the easy picking not near as many pickers will be required. I do not think any more hops will be picked on this coast than last year, viz: 47,000 bales against 77,000 bales in 1882. The cause is partly on account of dry weather and partly to the lack of thorough cultivation, because of the poor prospects in the spring. Most yards look fairly well here. There is a notable exception in one small yard, called the prohibition hops, so-called because the owner was a candidate on the prohibition ticket. No wonder the hops were discouraged and refused to grow.

Hops have been contracted here all the way from 8 cents to 25 cents per pound. One man that contracted for 8 cents persuaded the buying firm to let him off. It was very good in them, as I hear that the grower holds them now at 75 cents per pound. I have heard of no more growers that asked to get their contract back. The price now is nominally 20 cents, but I heard of one grower that contracted yesterday at 23 cents. Most growers think that they will be up to 30 cents, and think the present decline is only temporary, a belief shared by myself. But few have contracted their whole crop, holding some for a speculation. There are more buyers here than growers that wish to contract.

ANSWERS WANTED.

Mr. C. J. Moore, of Washougal, W. T., solicits answers to the following questions:

First—Is the Northern Pacific justly entitled to a land grant for that portion of road connecting Portland with Kalama?

Second—Would the Northern Pacific company get twenty or forty miles in width besides an indemnity limit of ten miles in Washington territory?

Third—Please state just how far eastward up the Columbia river the land grant would extend; also the indemnity limit. Would it take in any part of Skamania county, Washington territory?

Every Woman Knows Them.

The human body is much like a good clock or watch in its movements; if one goes too slow or too fast so follow all the others, and bad time results; if one organ or set of organs works imperfectly, perversion of functional effort of all the organs is sure to follow. Hence it is that the numerous ailments which make woman's life miserable are the direct issue of the abnormal action of the uterine system. For all that numerous class of symptoms—and every woman knows them—there is one unfailing remedy, Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," the favorite of the sex.

THE COURTS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

D. M. & T. I. Co. vs. Cooper; motion for appointment of receiver allowed; Geo. E. Chamberlain [illegible]pointed receiver.

D. M. & T. I. Co. vs. Davidson; motion to [illegible] out plea in abatement allowed; demurrer [illegible] set for hearing on August 4.

D. M. & T. I. Co. vs. Aukeny et al.; exceptions to answer of defendant, Woodward, argued [illegible] submitted.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT.

Yesterday morning, Judge Shattuck, of the circuit court, issued an order postponing the [illegible] of the St. George hotel property to foreclose mortgage of $12,000 in favor of B. Verdier [illegible] August. The sale was postponed pending hearing of the Rachel Paltolo petition to have [illegible] Blanc, the executor of the Manciet estate, [illegible] moved.

About two weeks ago F. C. Hammond brought damage suit against G. S. Morgan to recover several thousand dollars. They were in partnership in the fruit business at the corner of First [illegible] Salmon streets, and Hammond bought Morgan [illegible] on May 27, 1885. Hammond alleges Morgan [illegible] not to start up within two blocks of him, but [illegible] he did, hence the damage suit. Yesterday Morgan filed his answer in the state circuit court in [illegible] he denied all the allegations in Hammond's complaint, and set up that there was no written agreement between them that he should not engage in business within certain or any limits.

POLICE COURT.

M. S. Abbott and James Rodman were fined [illegible] each for soliciting for a hotel without license. S. Boyle, Wm. Tordi and T. M. Hutson, [illegible] young fellows found sleeping in a box car of O. & C. R. R. company, were sent below for [illegible] days each, likewise Charles McLaughlin and [illegible] Proctor, for drunkenness.

O. P. Mason filed and argued a demurrer in the case of Mrs. Gallagher, arrested for patrolling up and down the street in front of Cohen's restaurant. Counsel claimed this was not disorderly conduct under the meaning of the ordinance, nor was it disorderly conduct for Mrs. Gallagher to use boisterous language to Cohen, etc. The [illegible] overruled the demurrer and the case will be [illegible] to-day on its merits.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. John Rottner and children are visiting friends in Washington county.

Mr. C. M. Morseman, of Omaha, president of the Pacific express company, is in the city.

Judge Percival Renney, of Portland, Maine, [illegible] arrived in Portland from San Francisco yesterday, [illegible] is registered at the Esmond.

E. L. Bristow, of Salem, was in the city [illegible] day. He has recovered somewhat from [illegible] spell, but it will be some time before he [illegible] well again.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT

Yesterday morning Judge Shattuck of the state circuit court issued an order postponing the sale of the St. George hotel property to foreclose a mortgage of $1,000 in favor of B Verdier until August 1st The sale was postponed pending the hearing of the Rachel [illegible] petition to have J [illegible] Price the executor of the Manciet estate removed

About two weeks ago F C Hammond brought a damage suit against G S Morgan to recover seven thousand dollars They were in partnership in the fruit business at the corner of First and Salmon streets, and Hammond bought Morgan out on May 27 1886. Hammond alleges Morgan agreed not to start up within two blocks of him but that he did hence the damage suit Yesterday Morgan filed his answer in the state circuit court in which he denied all the allegations in Hammond's complaint, and set up that there was no written agreement between them that he should not again engage in business within certain or any limits

H S Abbott and James Lodman were fined $10 each for soliciting for a hotel without license [illegible] S Doyle Wm Tordt and T M Hutson three young fellows found sleeping in a box car of the O & C R R company were sent below for five days each likewise Charles McLaughlin and Joe Proctor, for drunkenness

O P Mason filed and argued a demurrer in the case of Mrs. Gallagher arrested for patrolling up and down the street in front of Cohen's restaurant Counsel claimed this was not disorderly conduct under the meaning of the ordinance neither was it disorderly conduct for Mrs Gallagher to use boisterous language to Cohen etc The court overruled the demurrer and the case will be tried to-day on its merits

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

KEEP THE RIVER OPEN —There is less than nineteen feet of water on St Helens bar and it will get shoaler gradually from now until the fall rains set in The chances are more than even that the river and harbor bill will not pass and the business men of Portland may as well make up their minds now to reach into their pockets for enough money to pay for sluicing it out. Of course if the appropriation bill passes the government will do the work and as it can be done much cheaper and quicker with a steamship's propeller than half a dozen dredges the presumption is that the sluicing process will be utilized again It would not be a bad plan for the board of trade to take hold right away The Willamette and Columbia must be kept open and if the government does not do it Portland has got to do it and the sooner the better It will not do to have any growling about additional charges for lighterage [illegible] Mayor Gates [illegible] he was mayor called the city's attention to the fact that with proper appliances in the way of two spars for holding the steamer in position the work of sluicing could be accomplished in half the time required where long hawsers and anchors are used The estimated cost is between $5000 and $6000 The apparatus should have been provided long ago and the city is the proper corporation to provide it For formality's sake let the appropriation come from the Willamette river fund Who is better to [illegible] in the city If the spars happen [illegible] a few miles [illegible] mouth of the Willamette

REBUILDING THE NARROW GAUGE BRIDGES —Having secured the necessary funds with which to rebuild the bridges of the Oregonian railway [illegible] the North and the South [illegible] Receiver Scott began the work yesterday Contracts for the bridges were let to the [illegible] Bridge company of San Francisco, and the cost will be about $8 000 This includes repairing the bridge over Thomas Fork which was taken down some two years ago for preservation The contractors agree to allow trains to cross on the trestle work within fifteen days and to have the bridges completed within sixty days So the entire east side division will be practically restored the middle of next month The construction of the bridge across the Willamette at Ray's Landing to connect the east and west side divisions has been undertaken by the Oregonian Railway Bridge company a newly incorporated concern who will commence work soon The estimated cost of the structure is $25 000 It is more than likely that the bridge company will operate a ferry across the Willamette during bridge construction and the boat will be so arranged as to transfer the cars Receiver Scott has been able to learn it is his opinion that the wheat yield of the Willamette valley this year is fully equal to last year With the completion of the line from Portland to Dundee which is promised early in September the farmers along the foothills are to be fairly certain of getting their grain to market this year without change of cars

AMATEUR SURGEON James Allard who went down to North Beach a short time since has made a reputation as a surgeon and is now known and hailed all along the beach as Doctor Willie [illegible] fishing from the rocks a day or two ago a lady who was sitting near by saw one of her children slip and fall and springing to its assistance she fell and drove a crochet needle clear through her hand Of course she fainted and there was a pretty how d'you do Allard dropped his rod and line and hastened to the lady's assistance He whipped out a jack knife whetted it hastily on the rock made an incision and in less time than it takes to tell it had yanked the needle out. He then divided a cud of tobacco placed half of it on either side of the wounded hand and bandaged it Then he emptied the pretty worms out of his bait box washed it out and carried some water with which he restored the patient to consciousness Next day a lady fishing with a thread line threw a hook into her finger so forcibly that the worm as well as the hook was driven through it She applied to Allard who brought out his jack knife and after whetting it on the rocks soon extracted the hook He is now contemplating sending to Portland for his kit of blacksmith tools and setting up as a dentist and surgeon

HOIST BY HIS OWN PETARD Several attorneys who were in attendance at the session of the U S circuit court yesterday are chuckling over a rebuke one of their brother practitioners received from the court which goes to prove the truth of the saying There is something not altogether unpleasing to us in the misfortunes of our friends. The case of the Dundee Mortgage & Trust Investment company against Davidson was before the court The unfortunate above referred to was endeavoring to convince the court that the D M & T I Co was not a corporation, and therefore could not maintain the suit to recover the money borrowed from it by his client. Judge Deady called his attention to the fact that he had commenced five suits in this court against this company in each of which he had solemnly sworn that it was a regularly organized corporation and that one of these suits had been tried and the court had decided that the company was duly incorporated Under this state of facts the court wished to know how the lawyer could ask the court to maintain such a plea and how he could reconcile making such a plea with his sworn obligations as an attorney The reply was that he was not making the plea for himself but for Judge Strahan, who was the counsel for Davidson

DISSATISFIED WITH A SALE —In the case of C A Allsky vs W P Hawley et al., H H Hawley yesterday filed notice in the state circuit court objecting to the confirmation of the sale of property by Charles H Carter the receiver The property referred to is the Bridal Veil Falls paper mills and was sold July [illegible] to C W McCoy for $1000 H H Hawley says the property cost $43 000 and is now reasonably worth $18 000 also that since the sale McCoy told him he was at the time of the purchase prepared to give $10 000 There is a great difference of opinion in regard to the value of this property The machinery of a paper mill is costly and some of it of a delicate nature in regard to suffering injury from rust, etc Highly polished chilled steel calender rollers costing $600 each may be ruined by lying idle and neglected for a year or two Felting becomes rotted felts are destroyed by rats [illegible] shrink and tumble to staves and a general depreciation of everything connected with such a concern ensues Some claim that the sum paid for the mill at Bridal Veil falls is all it is worth while others think from the great amount the plant cost it should be worth a great deal more. It will take an expert to decide the matter

ALLEGED FRAUDULENT DEED —W A Scoggin, administrator of the estate of Thomas Sherlock deceased, yesterday brought suit in the state circuit court against Christopher and Dora Schloth for the possession of 160 acres of land in Columbia county valued at $2500 The complaint sets forth that during the years 1870 and 1871 Sherlock and Schloth were in partnership in the saloon business and continued so for some time thereafter Plaintiff alleges that Sherlock became addicted to the excessive use of liquor so much so as to render him unsound in mind and body That he was unfamiliar with the writing of the English language [illegible] that taking advantage of his condition Dora Schloth got him to execute to her a deed of the property above mentioned July [illegible] 187[illegible] for a consideration of $100 That Sherlock died [illegible] [illegible] Scoggin was subsequently appointed administrator of the estate which is [illegible] only [illegible] is being [illegible] to it is the [illegible] and [illegible] possession of the [illegible] [illegible] prays this honorable court to declare the deed fraudulent and void and of no effect

PROTECTION NEEDED FOR SALMON —A gentleman who has been investigating the salmon fisheries this season says that there is urgent need of legislation for the protection of the salmon Before there is anything done toward the artificial propagation of salmon the laws for their protection should be enforced and more stringent ones enacted It is a long time till the next legislature meets and before that time laws should be drafted in regard to fishing wheels traps etc [illegible] [illegible] sure that [illegible] seriously [illegible] interested in the matter [illegible] endeavor to secure proper legislation [illegible] someone else may start [illegible]

ANOTHER CASE —The Oregon Iron [illegible] company represented by Elijah Smith W [illegible] have brought suit in the state circuit court against S G Reed to recover specific [illegible] charges [illegible] $10 000 Of this amount $ [illegible] is first [illegible] described by Reed and never paid up $200 000 is asked for losses sustained on account of his mismanagement and fraudulent conduct and $11 000 is claimed on account of a shipping transaction which it is claimed Reed unloaded on the company though it was in fact a private venture It is further asked that a lot of notes against the company aggregating about $300 000 and held by Reed be canceled The adjudication of this and the other cases between the stockholders of the Oregon Iron & Steel company will take months and possibly years and there is small reason to hope for resumption of work at Oswego

COMING TO OUR REMOTE CITY —Carl Strakosh manager of Mme. Minnie Hauk wishes the following inserted in THE OREGONIAN The visit of Mme Minnie Hauk the most famous and most popular prima donna to our remote city will be the leading musical and dramatic event of the season and preparations are being made among our cultured classes to give her a royal welcome and an elegant audience No one here will object to hearing Miss Hauk, but we all object to Portland being called a remote city Portland is not remote it is right here and is the great center of this whole section New York is remote very remote and it is no wonder that Carl and Minnie got lonesome away off there and want to come to Portland They can just bet that our cultured classes will give them a royal welcome and an elegant audience—when they get here

DEATH FROM NATURAL CAUSES —Coroner De Llu held an inquest yesterday on the body of the infant found in the river at the foot of Stark street Sunday afternoon The testimony developed the fact that the body had been in the water four or five weeks and that death resulted from natural causes Mong Dong the Chinaman arrested Sunday it turns out is a rag picker He noticed the sack at the bottom of the river and thinking he had found a prize hooked it ashore He cut the sack open with a piece of glass and on finding the body immediately tossed it back It was while so doing that the boys who caused his arrest came on the scene

LARGE TOURIST TRAVEL —Summer travel is now at its height, and the number of people coming into and leaving the city by every train and boat is wonderful. The Idaho, for Alaska, had to refuse passengers. There were 250 passengers on the train for the Sound yesterday, and a great crowd at Ash street dock yesterday afternoon going off on the O R & N. All the hotels are doing a land-office business, and the leading restaurants find trade increasing. There is hardly a doubt that we will have the same rush with every steamer from San Francisco for the next month.

DID NOT GO TO PIECES —An item from the Seattle Press, republished here insinuates that the Casino company "went to pieces" on the Sound and the members lost their salaries In the interest of truth and in justice to the Casino management, it is proper to say that the season closed as agreed with the company on the [illegible] that the members were [illegible] before they left Portland that they would not be [illegible] longer than the 2nd and most of them arranged to leave for San Francisco from Seattle the fare being the same as from Portland One innovation however was practiced The manager began paying at the bottom of the list the small salaried people first the principals coming last This displeased Mr Pyke and Miss Manifred who became very indignant and attacked the wardrobe All their members of the company were paid in full to date

BELIEVED IN OMENS —In these days of free schools and general enlightenment but few are found who believe in signs and omens There are some of mature years however who having had these nonsensical ideas ingrained in them when young can never get rid of them A portly and jolly government official yesterday [illegible] out of his office without his cane Oh said he I must go back That is bad luck so to avert the threatened evil he marched back into the office sat down took a half dollar out of his pocket laid it upon his desk turned it over and then replaced it in his pocket He then took his cane and marched out with a cheerful heart Of course he did not believe in this hocus pocus business but then he had heard there was a man that said it could do no harm to go through the rigmarole so he went through it

BRITISH COLUMBIA MINES —Mr H M Stramberg of New Westminster is at the Esmond House He has brought a quantity of very rich looking gold and silver bearing ore from the New [illegible] mines in British Columbia Yesterday five assays were made by Mr J H Fisk in this city and one of the samples went over $1000 in gold and silver while the average on all of them was over $100 Mr Stramberg speaks very highly of British Columbia as a field for quartz mining He says the Canadian Pacific railway has now opened up a tract of country which judging from the indications is one of the best mineralized portions of the globe Mr Stramberg and those associated with him have spent two years and a considerable amount of money in prospecting and they now own some valuable mines

TICKLING INDIANS —Deputy United States Marshal Johnson of the Dalles yesterday brought down J M Jackson a half breed charged with furnishing liquor to Indians He had an examination before United States Commissioner Paul R Deady and was held to answer As this is not his first offense of the kind he may as well make up his mind to catch it hot Deputy Harris of Oregon City brought down Joe Allen also charged with ministering to the aborigines wants in the whisky line He was examined before Commissioner Paul R Deady and also held to answer The unquenchable thirst of the untutored savage for the fire water of his pale faced brothers seems to be little dulled [illegible] and will continue to do so as long as Indians and whisky exist together in this country

ANXIOUS FOR THE CAR —In reply to a letter on the subject the state board of immigration has a letter from R W Furnas secretary of the state board of agriculture of Nebraska asking that the exhibit car be sent on a visit to that exposition and promising in the event of its coming to give the car a prominent place inside of the fair grounds so long as the commissioner in charge may choose to remain

COMMITTED FOR LARCENY —Judge Dennis yesterday held William Peek to answer before the grand jury on two charges of larceny from the store of Wm Beck & Son One consisted in the theft of a pistol, and the other of a shotgun In default of $500 bonds on each charge Peek was ordered committed to the county jail It is reported however that some of his friends will yet go his bail

DEATH OF A PIONEER WOMAN —The widow of the late Stukely Ellsworth died at Cove Union county a few days ago aged 52 years Her maiden name was Mary Stevens She came to Oregon in 18[illegible] married at Salem in 18[illegible] and lived until 1871 at Eugene City when she removed to Union county. Her husband died in 1876

NO THROAT CUTTING Yesterday a report was circulated that a man residing on Hood street had cut his wife's throat Investigation proves that if anything it was nothing more than a wife beating scrape and this is most positively denied by the woman referred to by the neighbors as the principal sufferer in the case

BAR ROOM ROW —Last night at 11 o'clock Ned Hart got into an altercation with Big Steve a barkeeper in a saloon at the northwest corner of Second and B streets and struck him over the eye Steve retaliated by taking a pistol shot at Hart but without effect Neither party was arrested

LARGE PEACH PLUMS —Yesterday E Wright of Willsburg in this county presented the state board of immigration for the exhibit car a splendid lot of peach plums Twelve of these plums weight thirty four and one half ounces Plum raisers are invited to beat this record

GRAND ARMY —Officers and members desiring extra copies of the G A R edition should send immediate notices to this office in order to secure this number It is to be issued Thursday, July 29 Price 5 cents per copy

THE EAST SIDE.

Mention was made in THE OREGONIAN of Sunday last of one John Howard, who came to Portland with the intelligence that some person had placed arsenic in his cistern and brought with him a sample of the water which was analyzed by J H Fisk and pronounced poisoned with arsenic Howard resides on a five acre tract situate between the base line and section line roads, about eight miles from East Portland On Saturday afternoon he called upon Justice Bullock and gave the following information On Saturday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock he went to the cistern on his place for the purpose of watering his horse previous to coming to the city He pumped a bucketful which foamed something like soapsuds This excited his suspicion so he threw the water out and pumped a second bucket which looked about the same only it was covered with thousands of minute bubbles and the water was quite milky and looked different to any he had ever drawn before He then felt satisfied that some one had been tampering with the cistern took up a part of the covering and looked in and to his surprise found the water clear and natural He concluded not to water his horse until reaching Mt Tabor on his way to the city Before starting Mr Howard whose suspicions were now thoroughly aroused filled a half pint bottle with the water he had drawn and brought it with him to Portland with the result stated above

On this information Justice Bullock issued a warrant for one Charles W Helmer whom Howard had strong reasons of suspecting. Helmer according to Howard's statement has repeatedly threatened himself and wife and declared that he would not live long to enjoy the place mentioned the five-acre tract above mentioned About a week ago a man whose description tallies closely with that of Helmer came to the drug store of Dr H C Coe [illegible] and purchased [illegible] cents worth of arsenic Helmer was arrested at noon yesterday by Mr [illegible] McMillan just as he was about to cross the Stark street ferry to Portland He was dressed in his best clothes which is a suspicious circumstance as it is stated he generally comes to town in rather shabby attire It is further stated that Helmer started to town on Sunday but got as far as Mt Tabor when he turned and went back He was arraigned yesterday afternoon and entered a plea of not guilty His bonds were fixed at $500 which he furnished giving G Peterson and O W Bisard as sureties A preliminary examination will take place to-day W Carey Johnson will appear for the defense and F A Campbell for the prosecution

During the absence of Howard on Saturday a neighbor came to the cistern and drank two cups of the poisoned water Luckily he was overcome and vomited freely thus doubtless saving his life A fine watch dog belonging to the family and several kittens also drank of the water The dog is dead

REDUCTION IN WATER RATES

At the last regular meeting of the directors of the East Portland water company it was decided to reduce the monthly water rates for families from $ to $1 50 per month The new schedule will take effect on and after September 1, and will be available to all consumers who shall pay in advance before the 10th of every month It is understood there has been some change in the stock ownership of the company and the above is indicative of the future policy of the corporation These rates are identical with those charged by the Portland water company In view of the fact that this reduction comes without solicitation on the part of the public it will be doubtless duly appreciated Another important rule adopted is that hereafter service pipes will be run to the curb thus saving new consumers considerable expense in the matter of plumbing

DEMPSEY BRADY

Mr Jack Dempsey and Miss Maggie Brady of East Portland will be married at 10 A M to-day at St Francis church corner Eleventh and J streets The ceremony will be public It is understood the young couple will be the recipients of a reception this evening and to-morrow morning will start to California via the O & C railroad on their wedding tour The bride elect is a well known and highly esteemed young lady of this city

LARGE QUANTITY OF WOOD BURNED

Early Sunday morning fire broke out in the woods just this side of St. Johns and burned very fiercely for a long time About 300 cords of wood belonging to Mr D C Hoyt were entirely consumed The fire is supposed to have been caused by careless hunters No other serious damage is reported

A PROMINENT PROHIBITIONIST

Reception to Dr Funk of New York—Lecture in the Evening

Yesterday Rev I K Funk D D of New York the well known editor and prohibition leader arrived here He stayed in Astoria Sunday evening, addressed an audience and was the guest of Dr Aug C Kinney He came to Portland on the steamer Telephone was met by a committee and escorted to the W C T U hall and introduced to about twenty five friends and after short devotional exercises by Rev O B Whitmore of McMinnville Dr Funk said he was pleased with what he saw on this coast that in new communities there was less prejudice to overcome and that we could hope for more rapid progress than in older communities that Horace Greeley said political parties ought to die every sixteen years that he Dr Funk had lately been converted to woman suffrage

DR FUNK'S LECTURE

A large audience gathered at the First Baptist church last evening to listen to the address of Rev Dr Funk The lecture was preceded by the reading of a chapter of the bible by Rev [illegible] Q A Henry prayer by Rev George H Atkinson and solo by Mrs J T Johnson Dr Funk was then [illegible] [illegible] introduced by Mr Henry The doctor is a fine looking middle aged gentleman [illegible] speaker and a logical [illegible] his address by referring to the [illegible] [illegible] manifested in the cause [illegible] [illegible] there was an [illegible] the saloon on account of the [illegible] the liquor traffic Referring [illegible] of July [illegible] the convicts at Blackwell's Island and [illegible] by the superintendent that [illegible] the curse of the liquor traffic The doctor [illegible] prohibition testimony [illegible] quote from the opposition [illegible] from the New York Tribune He enlarged most eloquently on Gladstone's statement that the liquor traffic had caused more harm than all the wars [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] Judge Noah Davis [illegible] Coleridge [illegible] eminent jurists were quoted to show the magnitude of the [illegible] The United States census was drawn on for its startling figures arranged in convincing array [illegible] the alarming increase in the use of intoxicating liquor and the necessity for new methods of fighting the evil He eloquently showed how ancient governments and civilization had fallen by some parasite that existed by them [illegible] and voiced the words of the London Times that we must end this traffic or it will end us Ancient Egypt fell because knowledge was worshipped and given only to the princes and ignorance was the parasite that possessed the masses Greece worshipped liberty and through the parasite of individuality each city setting up for itself fell Rome worshipped power and fell through luxury

Our civilization demanded greater brain exercises and people were rushing for stimulants Some say our civilization will last forever, so said the Egyptians the Jews the Greeks and the Romans He pictured the very existence of the republic depending upon the destruction of the saloon He showed that the liquor supply to a great extent caused the demand inasmuch as leading brewers always own many saloons and seek thus to push the business introducing free concerts, free lunches and poor men's club houses The politicians see that the saloon is an ally that cannot be despised Over 50 per cent of all political primaries in New York and Brooklyn are held in or adjoining saloons The doctor wittily and pointedly punctured the personal liberty argument

He quoted the Rev George F Pentecost's conversion to the prohibition party He was informed by the mayor of Brooklyn that the temperance men were asking too much for their number there being but 300 temperance men in the city because there were but that number of prohibition tickets cast It is votes only that count resolutions do not National prohibition is the only remedy, backed up by a prohibition party

LOST MINING CAMP FOUND.

A few days ago Mr Lef Frizzel living in Gilliam county was out hunting stock and wandered into a deep canyon near Gird creek Sitting down to rest on a large rock, he pulled off the moss and found a square aperture cut into the top Taking it to be the sign of something, he wandered up the creek about a quarter of a mile and came to an abandoned camp. Upon investigating farther, he ascertained that many years ago placer mining had been carried on in that section, and getting a panful of dirt went to the creek and commenced washing From this he procured twenty five cents in gold dust. Elated with his discovery he went to Arlington and informed his brother, Mr Joe Frizzel of his good fortune, and in a little while the new mines were thronged by an eager crowd of gold seekers The Times Mountaineer of The Dalles gives a history of the deserted camp It was established by two men in 1862 While one was getting supplies at The Dalles the other was murdered by Indians who also stole their ammunition of dust and destroyed the tools and cooking utensils The survivor upon making this discovery hastily buried his comrade's remains and fled from the spot Nobody else knew the locality and it has remained undiscovered till now The Times is confident that the place has very rich deposits of gold

Surest Tranquilizer of the Nerves

The surest tranquilizer of the nerves is a medicine which remedies their supersensitiveness by invigorating them Overtension of the nerves always weakens them What they need then is a tonic not a sedative The latter is only useful when there is intense mental excitement and an immediate necessity exists for producing quietude of the brain Hostetter's Stomach Bitters restores tranquility of the nerves by endowing them with the vigor requisite to bear, without being angered or disturbed unhealthfully the ordinary impressions produced through the media of sight hearing and reflection Nay it does more than this—it enables them to sustain a degree of tension from mental application which they would be totally unable to endure without its assistance Such at least is the irresistible conclusion to be drawn from the testimony of business and professional men literateurs clergymen, and others who have tested the fortifying and reparative influence of this celebrated tonic and nervine

ENGLAND

OVATIONS TO SALISBURY.

LONDON, July 26.—Lord Salisbury arrived at noon to-day in London from Osborne where he went to receive the queen's commands to form a government. Great crowds assembled at all the chief railroad stations between Portsmouth and London, and tendered the new premier ovations. He declined to address the crowds anywhere. At the London station an enormous crowd had assembled to welcome the marquis and they cheered him loudly when he alighted from the train.

COMMENTS UPON EXTRADITION.

LONDON, July 26.—The Standard commenting on the proposed convention extending the extradition provisions of the treaty of 1842 between England and the United States says: The fact that it will be in the power of the United States to make the surrender clause inoperative is the more reason why the United States should not have refused this slight proof of sympathy in difficulties which may sometime be her[illegible].

DISCUSSING THE NEW MINISTRY.

LONDON, July 26.—The Times says it believes that the Marquis of Salisbury offered to serve under Lord Hartington as premier if the latter would assume the work of forming a coalition government. Lord Salisbury has convened a meeting of the conservative members of the house of commons at the Carlton club to-morrow. Lord Cadogan will probably be selected as secretary for the colonies in the new cabinet.

DILKE'S DOWNFALL.

LONDON, July 26.—Sir Charles Dilke left town Saturday presumably for the continent. On the same day anticipating his removal by the queen from her privy council he resigned and is no longer even technically a right honorable. Many clergymen yesterday, under the ingenious veil of rhetoric, made his fall the leading topic for their sermons.

THE LONDONDERRY ELECTION.

LONDON, July 26.—The government declines to institute an inquiry into the conduct of the police on the occasion of the recent election in Londonderry. The viceroy's order summoning the inhabitants of Londonderry to deliver up their arms and ammunition before [illegible] day has been disregarded.

DAMAGES FOR CYRUS W. FIELD.

LONDON, July [illegible].—In the libel suit of Cyrus W. Field against James Gordon Bennett the sheriff's jury to-day awarded [illegible] damages. The defendant was also ordered to pay all the costs of the suit.

[illegible]

HE KISSED HER HANDS.

MICHAEL DAVITT COMING TO AMERICA.

LONDON, July [illegible]—Michael Davitt starts for New York Thursday to make a lecturing tour of the United States.

RUSKIN'S ILLNESS.

LONDON, July [illegible]—John Ruskin's health has changed for the worse.

FRANCE.

AN ATTACK ON THE PANAMA CANAL.

PARIS, July [illegible].—A violent anonymous attack has been made here on the Panama canal enterprise. The attack is made in a pamphlet strongly written and containing seventy pages. The title is "An Engineer's Letters on the Panama Canal." The cover bears the imprint of a sarcophagus and the work is dedicated "To the Victims of the Panama Craze." The pamphlet describes the mortality among the workmen employed in making the canal, describes in an anecdote form things on the isthmus, tells of heedless squandering of French public money, and in conclusion states that of twenty sections of the canal only five are yet in anything like an advanced stage of construction.

GEN. BOULANGER PLOTTING.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The Herald's special says Gen. Boulanger is plotting a coup d'etat. Figaro has no doubt of it. In a sensational article by M. Lavedin Figaro to-day warns the country to prepare for a pronunciamento, and gives minute details as to the general's object.

GERMANY

GEN. WILLISON DEAD.

BERLIN, July 26.—Gen. Baron Willison, the military governor of Berlin, is dead.

SALEM NOTES.

SALEM, July [illegible].

Governor Moody is expected home this evening from his trip to Union county.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Church of Portland are in Salem en route to Yaquina bay.

Wm. Wright has secured the contract for grading around the new school house building.

Prof. J. B. Horner has been elected one of the members of the state board of education.

Rev. Isaac W. Joyce of Cincinnati, Ohio, officiated at the M. E. church in this city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. George Collins and Mr. and Mrs. A. [illegible] are recreating at Lebanon Springs.

R. S. Wallace of the Capitol national bank and Hon. John Minto have just returned from Mount Jefferson and the Minto pass.

John W. Crawford of this city has secured the contract for furnishing the heating apparatus for the new East Salem school house.

Hon. A. F. Wheeler, assistant state treasurer, will unite with the old soldiers in the grand encampment G. A. R. at San Francisco.

Hon. A. F. Wheeler received a magnificent magnolia in full bloom from Postmaster Irvine of Albany on Saturday last, which has been greatly admired.

Col. E. H. Merrill of Portland is a guest at the Chemeketa hotel, where he warmly welcomes all the members of the Oregon state militia. He will go to Albany to-day.

PRESS COMMENT.

Providence Journal: The democratic idea of statesmanship appears to consist in making large appropriations for improvements to show their enterprise and then cutting them down one-half to show their economic spirit.

Philadelphia Times: The surplus is doing no harm in the treasury. This is more than could be said of it if it was scattered in a way to destroy all business confidence.

Buffalo Express: But until at least one democrat has been removed from office for offensive partisanship the country will not be able to believe Mr. Cleveland absolutely in earnest.

Indianapolis Times: As for the people at large they will continue to regard Mr. Cleveland as a gentleman favorable to the enactment of civil service laws but opposed to the execution of them.

Boston Herald: The president and his executive agents, the civil service commission, need to look sharply after certain evasions and violations of the reform act of which the democratic organs and officials are now boasting.

Indianapolis Journal: We shall believe more when we see some democratic federal officer removed for offensive partisanship. Until then the public will be excused from prostrating themselves anew before the splendid sentiments of Mr. Cleveland's order.

Dayton Journal: The president's little card to federal office holders is a rare specimen of cheap demagogy. It simply admonishes them that it is improper for them to participate in primaries or conventions, but prescribes no penalties for disregarding his perfunctory lecture on proprieties.

New York Evening Post: The truth is, indeed, that if the president would dismiss even one conspicuous democratic officeholder either for partisan activity or for evasion or violation of the civil service law he would not need to exhort office holders at all. One application of the guillotine would do the work of a whole volume of homilies and warnings.

Mrs. Hendricks Snubbed.

Washington Letter.

A friend of Mrs. Hendricks told me to-day that this lady was very much chagrined at the treatment which she received in Washington at the time of her coming here with her husband. Mrs. Hendricks is a very ambitious woman, and enjoys social power. The fact that the president was a bachelor made her the leading lady of Washington. She expected, therefore, to receive unusual consideration. She was very much disappointed at the way she was treated by the president. This friend of Mrs. Hendricks told me that in all the time the Hendrickses were here after the inauguration, the president never gave Mrs. Hendricks a single personal invitation to come to the White House to assist in any of the receptions. Mrs. Hendricks felt this very much. It is a well known fact that the president disliked Mrs. Hendricks, but I do not think it was generally known that Mrs. Hendricks was never invited to assist at any of the White house festivities during the life of her husband as an official of the new administration.

Two Many Newspapers.

[illegible] County Itemizer.

There are seventy four weekly, seven daily, three semi weekly and three monthly newspapers in Oregon, one paper to every 2200 people, which means one paper to every 440 voters, possible supporters of newspapers. To say the paper printing business is overdone in [illegible] is drawing it mild. It's actually butchered [illegible] If [illegible] half [illegible] the papers it has it would be [illegible] the [illegible] as news [illegible] argue that people will [illegible] most news, [illegible] people naturally [illegible] thing of the kind. The earliest [illegible] a half-way newspaper from becoming [illegible] did one.

A Case Not Beyond Help.

Dr. N. H. Hinsdale, Kewanee, Ill., [illegible] remarkable cure of Consumption. He says: [illegible] wife was attacked with violent lung disease [illegible] pronounced beyond help from Quick Consumption. As a last resort the family was persuaded to try DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. To the astonishment of all by the time she had used one-half dozen bottles, she was about the house doing her own work.

WHEAT—Advices contain very little of interest in foreign market, being in fair tone. With us receipts are light; the whole movement small and but few transactions spoken of. Quotations are nominally as last given.

OATS—Demands about met by receipts and the market is quiet. Yesterday's steamer carried out 3[illegible] centals, which go to an irregular but good market. We quote [illegible], with something better possible for the choicest.

POTATOES—Arrivals of California falling away on account of larger home supplies. The selling price is $1 10@1 25. Sweets sold at 4@5c.

ONIONS—Sell at $1 10.

FRUITS, ETC.—Oregon cantaloupes bring $1 50 per dozen, California melons $3. Tomatoes are 80c @$1; lemons $11; grapes $1 50; peaches $1 25@1 50.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Governments were quiet. The stock market to-day was dull, barren of news and with very little change, except Northern Pacific. The opening this morning was strong, the first prices showing advances ranging from ⅛ to ⅝ per cent. The market showed some activity in early trading, and slight declines were established except in Northern Pacific, and before noon dullness reigned and prices remained dull and fairly steady until the last hour, when a decided upward turn took place. The market finally closed firm at about the best figures of the day.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON CITY.

Matters of Interest Gathered by "The Oregonian's" Special Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 1[illegible].—Delegate Voorhees, under instructions from the committee on public lands, has favorably reported his bill providing that all qualified citizens of the United States who have in good faith filed applications for land under the homestead laws and who without a purpose of speculation have [illegible] lost or relinquished their right to the land applied for shall be permitted to make one other entry under the homestead laws. Mr. Voorhees, after quoting from the records of congress, says that the manifest intention of congress was to provide homes for the homeless, to obtain homes, and that it was not contemplated that the homestead should stop the settler from again filing upon the lands. Where persons seeking homesteads have met with misfortune congress has at several times relieved them from a strict compliance with the provisions of the homestead law. In 18[illegible] congress extended the time of homestead settlers in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan who had lost their property by fire. In 18[illegible] an act was passed extending the time of proving up claims to settlers in Iowa and Minnesota who had suffered by the grasshopper plague. In 1880 a similar act was passed for the relief of homestead and preemption settlers in Kansas and Nebraska. "Time and events," the report says, "have given new emphasis to the importance of furnishing to the landless an opportunity to obtain homes, and the committee can find no sufficient reason why any settler in the United States who for any cause, in good faith and without the purpose of speculation has surrendered, lost or relinquished his homestead right and who is not the owner of 160 acres of land, should not be permitted to make one other homestead entry and perfect the same by actual residence and cultivation for a period of five years."

EIGHT HOURS FOR LETTER-CARRIERS.

In the debate in the house of representatives on the bill to extend the eight-hour law to letter-carriers throughout the Union, letters were submitted from the postoffice department showing the number of carriers now employed in the free delivery cities, the average number of hours employed by each carrier and the additional number of carriers that would be required should the eight hour law be passed by congress. The total number of free delivery cities in the United States is 181 and the total number of carriers employed 4842. According to letters received from postmasters 2208 extra carriers will be required under the eight hour law. The number of carriers now employed in New York city is 703, Philadelphia 439, Chicago [illegible]0, Boston 295, Brooklyn 209, St. Louis 172, San Francisco 101, Portland, Or., 8. The average number of hours during which carriers are employed varies from seven to fourteen, Salt Lake City claiming the former number and San Jose the latter. The average for all the cities would probably be not far from ten hours. The postmaster general states that no more than eight hours labor is required of any laborer, although more hours of duty are necessary in the case of some in order to an economical arrangement of the work. He then adds: "In respect to this it may be remarked that although letter carriers are in a certain sense on duty more than eight hours in many places, yet the actual labor which they perform frequently does not reach to eight hours, and while with many the service is laborious and severe, with probably a large majority the contrary is the fact." The department estimates that the increased cost to the government for the first fiscal year will be $[illegible]. The bill has passed the senate and will probably pass the house.

CONTRACTS FOR ALIEN LABOR.

On the 15th inst the house of representatives passed the bill to amend an act to prohibit the importation of immigration of foreigners and aliens under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its territories and the district of Columbia. The amended bill grants power to the secretary of the treasury to enter into contracts with any board or commission designated by the governor of any state to take charge of the local affairs of immigration in the ports within said state, and said board shall examine into the condition of passengers arriving in vessels, and if there be on board any foreigners or aliens under contract agreement to perform labor, the collector of the port shall not permit such passengers to land. All such persons shall be returned to the lands whence they came, the expense to be borne by the owners of vessels bringing them. The necessary expense in the execution of this act for the present fiscal year shall be paid out of the United States treasury. Under this act Chinese laborers coming into this country can be returned to their native soil. Heretofore the law has been inoperative as no provision was made for expenses of return.

A bill having a kindred relation to the above was also passed by the house of representatives the same day. It provides that no convict or prison labor whatsoever or the product thereof shall be employed or used upon any public building or other public work or in the preparation or manufacture of any of the articles, materials or supplies contracted to be furnished therefor, and no person who is not a bona fide resident within the limits of the United States and who has not declared his intention to become a citizen thereof in the manner provided by law shall be employed in the erection of such buildings or works. These stipulations shall be inserted in every contract, and a willful violation of them shall work a forfeiture of the contract.

The bill for the relief of [illegible] J. Northcutt & Bros. for losses sustained by Indian depredations in Southern Oregon in 18[illegible] was reached on the senate calendar a few days since, but on objection to its present consideration by Senator Dawes it went over under the rule.

AN ATTACK ON THE COMMERCE COMMITTEE.

In one of Senator Ingalls's caustic speeches wherein he charged certain members of the commerce committee with increasing appropriations for rivers and harbors in their own states and neglecting to correspondingly increase the amounts in other states, he said: "As this bill came from the house of representatives and as it has been amended by the committee on commerce it happens that out of the total sum appropriated with the amendments those states that have been favored by membership on the committee obtain a grand total of $[illegible] or about one half. The state of Maine has $191 000, the state of Minnesota $120,000. The state of Michigan has $[illegible]500, the state of New York $1 [illegible]04 600, the state of Oregon $[illegible]00, the state of Pennsylvania $[illegible]000, North Carolina $410 000, Texas $[illegible]00, Missouri $54 500, including the Missouri river; Maryland $25[illegible], Florida $[illegible]000, West Virginia $315 000, Louisiana $[illegible]000.

Now let us look at the increases as reported from the committee of the senate. Maine has an increase of $40 000, Minnesota [illegible]5 000, Michigan $[illegible]0 000, New York $9[illegible] 000, Oregon, $185 000, Pennsylvania $40 000, North Carolina $[illegible]000, Texas and Missouri having suffiel or I suppose were not increased. Maryland $125 2[illegible]5, and Florida, her member of the committee being absent, was decreased $13 000. West Virginia was increased $100 000 and Louisiana $5000, making a total increase by amendments in the senate in those states represented by members of the committee of $[illegible] out of $2 8[illegible] 75, being nearly two thirds of the entire increase by amendments in his body."

WASHINGTON TERRITORY INDIAN SCHOOL.

Senator Dawes of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee on territories, has introduced a bill to change the location of an Indian school building in Washington territory. The bill authorizes the secretary of the interior to erect the building to be [illegible] Tonasket and his people under agreement made with him July [illegible] 18[illegible] and ratified in the Indian appropriation act for the fiscal year 18[illegible] at some suitable place in what is called Antoine valley instead of at Bonaparte creek as provided for in said agreement.

INDEMNITY FOR INDIAN LOSSES.

Within the past few days there has been introduced in the senate a bill to pay the following sums of money to the following named persons for the destruction of their property by the Rogue River Indians in 1853 and in 1855-56: To John [illegible] Ross $[illegible]; to B. F. Dowell $250; to the heirs of George W. Harris and his wife $[illegible]; to the heirs of Martin Angel and his wife Ann Angel $[illegible]00; to heirs of Charles Williams and his wife Ann Williams, formerly Ann Angel, $[illegible]; to Harrison B. Oatman $[illegible]00.

DR. JOHN BULL'S SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP FOR THE CURE OF FEVER and AGUE Or CHILLS and FEVER, AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.

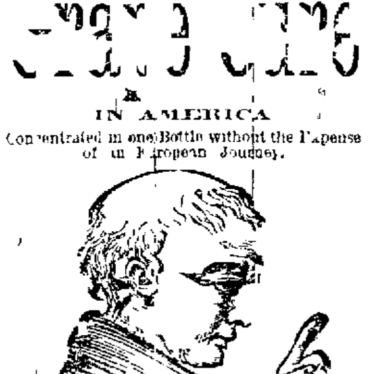
THE BENEFITS OF THE [illegible] IN AMERICA

Concentrated in one Bottle without the Expense of an European Journey.



SAL - MUSCATELLE

The crystallized salts as extracted from grapes and fruit, a most wonderful product from Nature's laboratory, the greatest sovereign preparation ever placed before the American public.

Sal Muscatelle is Nature's own product. It supplies to the weary system the want of sound ripe grapes and fruit. It keeps the blood pure and the brain clear. It is a natural blessing to the fagged-out and weary, an important companion to business men, ladies and children. Have it in your homes, travels, summer resorts and seaside cottages.

THE TOPIC OF THE DAY.
